Examples of Recent Cases

Commercial Litigation

"He is, in no particular order, supremely clever, practical, quick thinking, hard-working, amiable and funny." (Chambers & Partners, Commercial Dispute Resolution)

In the words of Foxton J, "one of the largest and most complex pieces of litigation to be heard in the Commercial Court". A series of claims brought by the Danish tax office against c. 100 defendants in multiple jurisdictions in respect of an alleged conspiracy involving fraudulent withholding tax reclaim applications in the sum of DKK 12 billion (approximately £1.5 billion). Worldwide freezing orders and proprietary injunctions were obtained and maintained against 35 respondents. Sam acted as the senior junior on a large counsel team led by Michael Fealy QC and James Goldsmith QC. As well as the main proceedings, Sam appeared in a number of hearings including an application relating to the availability of litigation privilege; the release of undertakings; collateral use of documents obtained pursuant to Norwich Pharmacal orders; preliminary issues; and a series of complex case management conferences.
- Tsareva v Ananyev; Galagaev v Ananyev [2019] EWHC 2114 (Comm)
Major multi-party dispute arising out of a US$100 million claim for alleged fraudulent misrepresentation in connection with the sale of Loan Notes in Russia in which the First Defendant challenges the jurisdiction of the English Court, in particular in relation to the Claimants' reliance on Articles 7(2) and 8(1) of the Brussels Regulation (Recast) and the tort, contract and/or "necessary or proper party" gateways. Sam acted as sole Counsel for the Issuer and Guarantors of the Loan Notes in an interlocutory application to discharge a WFO and was subsequently led by David Foxton QC in a week-long jurisdiction hearing.

Acting with Neil Kitchener QC for Dana Gas in Commercial Court proceedings which sought to declare various transaction documents governing its US$700 million 'sukuk' financing invalid on account of the basis that those documents did not comply with certain fundamental principles of Shariah and were contrary to UAE law (the law governing one of the main transaction documents). The case raised questions of contractual construction, the (English) law of common mistake and conflict of laws (in particular, the impact of the fact that certain obligations were unlawful under a foreign law on transaction documents governed by English law). The claim also gave rise to several difficult procedural issues, in particular because Dana Gas (the Claimant) was prevented from attending the trial as a result of an anti-suit injunction having been obtained against it in the UAE, which led to the Claimant obtaining two adjournments of the English trial.

The claimant proved that the defendants created a corporate structure as a vehicle to hold assets belonging to the bankrupt in an attempt to put assets beyond the reach of his creditors. In pursuing the claimant's claims, the claimant obtained orders recognising the foreign trustee under the cross-border insolvency regulation, a proprietary injunction, the appointment of receivers, an order under the Taking of Evidence Regulation, and an order to join an additional defendant in the course of the trial.
